

Bullhead City

Mohave Community College Groundbreaking

Remarks by Gov. Jan Brewer
Thursday, January 26, 2012

I'm delighted to be here on the Bullhead City Campus of Mohave Community College.

And, I'm honored that you've invited me to participate in the ground breaking ceremony for the Legacy Foundation Allied Health Sciences Building II.

Just a short time ago, I met with the Bullhead Regional Economic Development Authority and was pleased to share with them my vision for this Centennial Year -- and the real progress that we've made in making the Arizona Comeback a reality.

Well, there could be no more appropriate example of that comeback -- than the new building we highlight today -- a true and important step in Mohave County's economic development.

Let me congratulate the Legacy Foundation and the Mohave Community College Foundation for their commitment to the future of our state – and commend the Board of Governors and President Kearns for your leadership in this great project – a project that will develop and expand Arizona’s healthcare workforce through education.

Jobs are being created here -- not only construction jobs -- but future jobs in the healthcare industry -- filled by local residents – who – once trained – are likely to stay here serving and enhancing their local community.

What we’re witnessing here today is an education and healthcare partnership that builds upon the promise of Arizona’s Second Century.

Thank you again for allowing me to be a part of that -- and, again, congratulations to all of you for your investment in Mohave County, Mohave Community College and the future of this great state.

May God bless you all.

Thank you.
